No II

I have known Mr.M.Seshadri, B.A., for more than three years both inside College and outside it. He has had a distinguished career as his College and University successes abundantly show. His is a mind alert and independent, happy in speculation yet always in touch with reality; and it is a mind that is growing. Mr.Seshadri is possessed of a keen and enthusiastic disposition, with a power of steady application and hard work. If I am not mistaken, he will welcome the experiences of life as incentives to right judgment and worthy service.

23rd April 1915.

I have known M. Seshadri for two years as a student of my Inter. Collegiate Classes. He struck me as a youth of good parts and exemplary demeanour. His distinctively good ability and steady application to work are sure to make his future career in life one of marked usefulness and success. He has appeared for the Honours Examination in in Philosophy, and when the results are published I expect to find his name high up in the list. He bears a high character.

Seshadri has been a most distinguished student of the Christian College. In his B.A. Examination he took the medal and first place for Philosophy; during the last two years he has kept this place while reading for Honours. He is essentially characterised by the qualities that last, steady perseverance and level-headedness. In a post of administration he would reveal individuality and power of leadership. Many would envy already his equipment for the battle of life.

It is with the utmost confidence I write this commendation and I believe that whatever his walk in life, he will not belie but enhance these words; his development is not yet complete and the ripening of experience should make him a man to be reckoned with
